

Parco Agricolo Sud Milano . MILANO

THE PARCO AGRICOLO SUD MILANO Nature and agriculture in the Milan's metropolitan area

Leaving from the centre of Milan, you will enter in the “Parco Agricolo Sud Milano” (Milan Agricultural South Park), which represents a unique environment in the panorama of European metropolitan belt parks.

The protected area covers about 47,000 ha between two rivers, Ticino and Adda, including the territory of 61 municipalities. You will cross a large agricultural area typical of the Lombardy plain, within you can find some large naturalistic areas, such as “Fontanili” (water springs) and plain woods, peculiar of the ancient wooded areas that covered the Po Valley in past centuries.

The territory, almost totally flat, is crossed by many water courses of different sizes and by an extensive artificial water network, which finds its best expression in the “Naviglio Grande” and the “Naviglio Pavese”.

The excursion of 1 day explores a remarkable example of conservation of agricultural territories, a few miles from a large metropolis, where natural environments offer sanctuary to many animal species, and where the wooded areas are characterized by oak-carpathian vegetation, which hosts a rich fauna.
